The Great Change

by White Deer of Autumn; illustrated by Carol Grigg

In this Native American tale, a wise grandmother explains the meaning of death, or the Great Change, to her questioning granddaughter. While going through their daily tasks in the Indigenous way, taking from Mother Earth only what is needed and returning what is not used so as to replenish her, 9-year-old Wanba asks, "Why do the fish have to die? Why does anything have to die? Why did Grandpa have to die?" Grandmother explains that just as a catepillar "dies" only to become a beautiful butterfly, there is no "death" in the Circle of Life—only the Great Change. This is a story of passing on tradition, culture, and wisdom to the next generation. It is a moving tale for everyone—child and adult—who wonders about what lies beyond this life.

Elizabeth's Song

by Michael Wenberg; illustrated by Cornelius Van Wright

Elizabeth's Song is the true-life story of Elizabeth Cotton, the noted African American folksinger, guitarist, and songwriter. Against all odds, young Elizabeth teaches herself to play guitar left-handed on a borrowed instrument. Eventually, she earns enough money to buy a guitar of her very own, and is then inspired to write her first song—the folk classic "Freight Train," written when she was 11 years old. Elizabeth's unique style of playing guitar (upside down and backwards), from which the musical term "cotton-picking" is derived, has influenced countless other artists. Elizabeth's story is one that will inspire people of all ages.
